SWEET CRUMBS BAKERY

Website Project Report

A responsive bakery website developed using HTML and CSS

Technology: HTML5 and CSS3 only | Project type: Static front-end website

Prepared from the supplied ABL1(2).html source file.

1. Introduction

Sweet Crumbs Bakery is a sample bakery website that presents baked products and bakery information in an attractive, section-based layout. It includes cakes, pastries, cookies, custom cake designs, a seasonal offer, contact information and a footer.

2. Objectives

• Create a simple, visually consistent bakery website.

• Organize products into categories for easier browsing.

• Use CSS cards, spacing, colors, image sizing and hover states.

• Provide navigation links to sections of the same page.

• Adapt the layout to smaller screens using a media query.

3. Technologies Used

HTML5: Provides the structure through headings, paragraphs, navigation links, sections, images, product cards and footer content.

CSS3: Controls colors, typography, spacing, flexbox layout, rounded corners, shadows, hover states and responsive behavior.

JavaScript: Excluded from the code listing. The original HTML had one inline onclick alert on the custom-cake button; that attribute is removed in the HTML/CSS-only file.

4. Website Features

Header: Shows the bakery name and “Freshly Baked with Love” tagline.

Navigation: Links to Home, Cakes, Pastries, Cookies, Custom Cakes, Offers and Contact.

Welcome banner: Displays a welcome message and a button linking to the cakes section.

Special cakes: Shows chocolate, strawberry and birthday cakes with descriptions and sample prices.

Pastries: Shows two pastry/bakery treat cards with descriptions and prices.

Cookies and biscuits: Shows chocolate cookies and butter cookies with box prices.

Custom cake designs: Displays cake images and information about personalized celebration cakes.

Seasonal offer: Shows a sample 15% discount promotion.

Contact section: Shows sample location, phone, email and opening hours; verify or replace before real use.

Footer: Displays copyright information and a closing tagline.

5. Design and Layout

The palette uses dark berry colors for the header, navigation and footer; pale peach for the welcome banner; cream for the page background; and soft gold for the offer panel. Product cards have white backgrounds, rounded corners and subtle shadows. Images use object-fit: cover to create consistent image areas.

The .cards class uses display:flex, flex-wrap:wrap, justify-content:center and gap spacing. Cards can sit beside each other when space allows and wrap to additional rows as needed.

6. Responsive Design

A media query applies at widths of 600 pixels or less. It adjusts navigation spacing, reduces section padding and banner heading size, makes product cards fill the available width, and allows gallery images to scale to the screen.

7. Development Process

• Create the HTML document, page title and viewport meta tag.

• Write CSS for the background, header, navigation, banner, buttons, cards, offer and footer.

• Add page sections and matching navigation anchor IDs.

• Add product names, descriptions, sample prices and image URLs.

• Add a responsive media query for smaller screens.

• Remove the inline JavaScript event handler for an HTML/CSS-only version.

• Open the file in a browser and check layout, navigation and image loading.

8. Advantages

• Beginner-friendly, single-file project.

• Clear product categories and page navigation.

• Responsive behavior for smaller screens.

• Consistent colors and card styling.

• Uses standard HTML and CSS without a framework.

9. Limitations

• Order Now buttons are visual only; no checkout system is implemented.

• Contact details and offers are sample content and should be verified.

• Images load from external Unsplash URLs and may require internet access.

• No database, inventory, user account system or server-side form handling.

• The custom-cake button has no behavior in the HTML/CSS-only version.

10. Testing and Expected Output

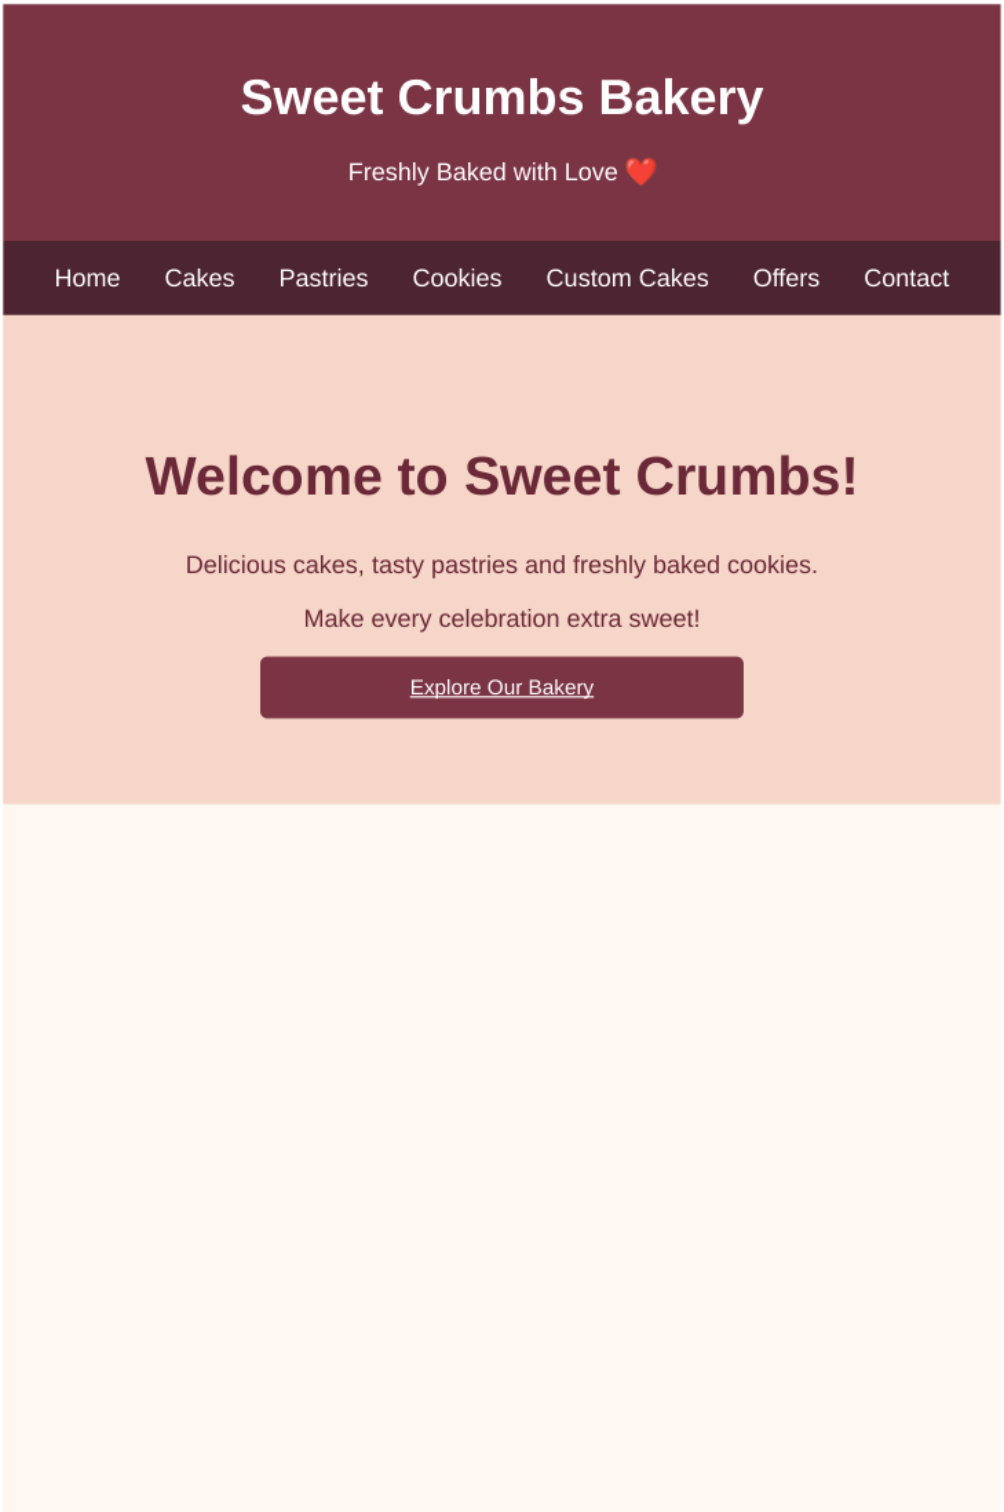

In a modern browser with internet access, the page should display the header and navigation, welcome banner, cake products, pastries, cookies, custom cake gallery, offer panel, contact information and footer. Navigation links jump to their matching sections. The media query changes the layout at widths of 600 pixels or less.

11. Conclusion

This project demonstrates how HTML and CSS can create a simple, attractive and responsive product website. The section-based structure is easy to maintain and expand. Before real publication, replace sample contact details, confirm prices and offers, and implement an actual ordering or contact process if needed.

12. Website Output Preview

Preview is generated from the supplied layout and styling. When browser rendering is unavailable, image areas are represented by placeholders.

13. Complete HTML and CSS Code (JavaScript Excluded)

The following code preserves the supplied HTML and CSS while removing the inline onclick JavaScript handler. Code font: Courier, 10.5 pt; code text and headings are black.
